ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of Board/President

Alexander Gus Spanos, a self-made giant in the building industry, purchased majority interest in the San Diego Chargers August 1, 1984.

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a life-long goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream."

Spanos has moved with strength and vision in an effort to put the Chargers on top. With a "whatever-it-takes" approach, he is bringing all the pieces together to form a solid foundation for success. The hiring of General Manager Bobby Beathard, one of the most respected football men in the National Football League, was hailed around the League. He has aggressively pursued and signed some of the top players in football. He has modernized and upgraded the team's football training camp facilities with the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the Chargers' summer camp at the University of California at San Diego. An Astroturf field at the Chargers' in-season practice facility at San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium was installed. Spanos also has completely renovated the team's locker room facilities and front office at the Stadium.

Spanos' commitment to the NFL also was recognized when Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in May last year. Spanos is one of six NFL owners entrusted to develop recommendations on expansion and realignment issues which will greatly affect the future of pro football.

Last year, Spanos was invited by President George Bush to join him on a two-day goodwill trip to Greece and drew praise from the Chief Executive who singled him out as an American of Greek heritage who has achieved success in America. It was the first time a private citizen not holding official government status has been invited to join a president on such a mission.

During the visit, President Bush addressed the Greek Parliament in Athens July 18, 1991, and credited Spanos with making "a tremendous imprint in our country." Bush also cited Spanos for his continued efforts to promote stronger ties between the two countries. Spanos and his wife, Faye, also hosted a formal dinner party for 250 Greek government, political, business and community leaders, which was attended by American Ambassador to Greece, Michael Sotirhos, and Greek Prime Minister Konstantinos Mitsotakis.

And when America needed a helping hand, Spanos was there to deliver. He spearheaded the most aggressive fundraising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fundraising event in the history of the United Service Organization. As National Chairman of the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon April 5, 1991, in Los Angeles, Spanos guided an effort which raised more than $4.5 million. Spanos personally arranged for and presented a check for $250,000 to the U.S.O. on behalf of the 28 NFL teams through NFL Charities. The contribution was the second-largest single grant ever by NFL Charities. The Luncheon was attended by President George Bush, former Presidents Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford, Secretary of Defense Dick Cheney, General Colin Powell, and U.S.O.'s Ambassador of Goodwill, Bob Hope.

These moves demonstrate the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community has been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting as an eight-year-old in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company, which has become one of the largest apartment builders in the United States.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of ten companies bearing his name, including A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Properties, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Marketing, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; the A.G. Spanos Jet Center, and the A.G. Spanos Land Company. In the last thirty years, he single-handedly built a construction empire stretching across fifteen states, and made the Spanos Corporation one of the top building giants in the nation.

Throughout his rags-to-riches life, Spanos always has treasured family and community above all else.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. Eldest son Dean serves as President of the Spanos corporate organization and Vice Chairman of AGS Financial and the Chargers. Son Michael and son-in-law Barry Ruhl manage the construction and development activities in the western and southeastern divisions of the company. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed was recognized in 1986 as he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission. In a special ceremony on Ellis Island, the honorees were cited for being "outstanding American citizens who have distinguished themselves in their respective fields of endeavor, while preserving the values of their particular heritages."

In 1989, Spanos received the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai

B'rith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others.

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee at the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. He has donated substantially to benefit critically ill youngsters at Childrens Hospital and Health Center in San Diego. He was awarded a Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree by the University of the Pacific on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class. In 1985, Spanos was chairman of San Diego Childrens Hospital's first Miracle Network Telethon. In 1987, Spanos served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and was chairman of the Loaned Executive campaign during the annual United Way/CHAD drive in San Diego County.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fundraising "Evening of Elegance" dinners benefitting assorted children's charities including San Diego Childrens Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last "Evening of Elegance" held in 1985 topped the one-million-dollar mark.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, Spanos and Hope sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980). In 1987, Spanos was inducted into the Stockton Athletic Hall of Fame.

Alex and Faye have four children — Dean, Dea, Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael — and ten grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton; Tarpon Springs, Florida; and Palm Springs, California.

DEAN SPANOS

Vice Chairman

Dean Spanos has brought broad business and financial expertise to the Chargers when he moved to La Jolla, California, in 1984 and took a leading role in the management and administration of personnel and fiscal matters.

In addition to his role with the Chargers, he doubles as President of the Spanos corporate organization and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation from his office in San Diego Jack Murphy Stadium. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization. For the past 21 years, Dean has been working alongside his father, owner Alex Spanos, in apartment construction and land development.

Dean attended the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, serving as a Regent at the University.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach where he teamed with partner Hubert Green. He also was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985 where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He was an outstanding member of the Lincoln High School golf team in Stockton before continuing his golfing career at the University of the Pacific. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his accomplishments in the areas of business and athletics. He now resides in La Jolla, California, with his wife, Susan, and sons, Alexander Gus (July 2, 1978) and John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979).

BOBBY BEATHARD

General Manager

30th NFL Season
3rd Season with Chargers

The Super Bowl is the pinnacle of success in the National Football League and Bobby Beathard has been the master architect of five Super Bowl participants, including four world champions. He turned the NFL's oldest team of the 70's — the Washington Redskins — into one of the most successful organizations of the 80's. When Alex Spanos named Beathard general manager of the San Diego Chargers January 3, 1990, it brought hope for similar success to follow Beathard and the Chargers into the 90's.

In his short time with the Chargers, Beathard has acted with the same vitality and decisiveness that highlights his 29 years as an NFL talent evaluator. A tireless and aggressive approach to the NFL draft is a Beathard trademark. His judgement was on the mark in 1990 when seven players from his first draft in San Diego ended up in the starting lineup, including all-Rookie performers Junior Seau, Leo Goeas and Frank Cornish. Beathard made more strong moves in 1991 which allowed him to draft 14 players, including 12 who completed their rookie season with the Chargers and eight who saw regular-season action.

Beathard also has been one of the NFL's most active and successful participants in signing veteran NFL Plan B free agent talent. He landed immediate help for the Chargers when he arrived by signing running back Ronnie Harmon, punter John Kidd and kicker John Carney. Harmon, the team's 1991 Most Valuable Player, proved to be a phenomenal talent both rushing and receiving while Kidd and Carney solidified the kicking game. In 1991, Plan B brought starting left tackle Harry Swayne while the 1992 Plan B class added 10 players including safety Delton Hall and linebacker Eugene Marve.

Though success has followed Beathard every step through his NFL career, Beathard has remained one of League's most low-key and well-liked personalities. Representative of his modesty is the fact he owns five Championship rings, yet never wears or displays one.

Beathard has demonstrated a keen eye for talent since becoming a part-time scout with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1963. He left the Chiefs briefly to scout for the American Football League and returned to Kansas City full-time after the AFL-NFL merger in 1966 and earned his first championship ring as a member of the 1966 Chiefs' organization. Beathard then served as a scout for the Atlanta Falcons, 1968-71.

In 1972, Beathard was named director of player personnel for the Miami Dolphins. The Dolphins won the following two Super Bowls. Then on February 24, 1978, the Redskins made Bobby their general manager and he ultimately showed the league that first-round draft picks were weapons to be used in trades. In his 11 years, the Redskins had only three first-round picks. They went to the Super Bowl three times and won twice.

Beathard's handiwork was apparent on all three Super Bowl teams, including the World Champion Redskins of 1982 whose roster included an astounding 27 free agents signed by Bobby since he joined the team in 1978. The 1983 squad, which finished 14-2, also made it to the Super Bowl. The Super Bowl XXII team that defeated Denver, 42-10, in San Diego, was led by players acquired through Beathard's respected eye for talent, including MVP Doug Williams and record-setting running back Timmy Smith.

Appropriately, Beathard's first selection as Washington's general manager, 1978 sixth-round returner Tony Green, made the Pro Bowl. The following year he signed linebackers Rich Milot, Monte Coleman and Neal Olkewicz, who played together for nine years. His first selection that year, fourth-round tight end Don Warren from San Diego State, is still with the club.

Beathard left the NFL to serve as a commentator for the National Broadcasting Company (NBC) on it's weekly "NFL '89" show during the 1989 season.

When Beathard joined the Chargers, he returned to the Southern California lifestyle in which he was raised. Born in Zanesville, Ohio, January 24, 1937, Robert Beathard, Jr., grew up in the Los Angeles area and attended El Segundo High. He moved on to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo where he played quarterback, 1956-58, and led the 1957 and '58 teams to consecutive 9-1 records.

Bobby signed to play for the Redskins in 1959 but was released. He was in the Los Angeles Chargers' training camp in 1960 as a defensive back. Beathard's playing career ended in 1962 with Minnesota after playing in six games.

Bobby and his wife, Christine, reside in Encinitas, California. Beathard is an avid runner. He has run in dozens of marathons, including several Boston Marathons. He also enjoys surfing and cycling. Bobby has four children: Kurt (Jan. 4, 1963), currently an assistant coach at Bloomsburg University; Jeff (June 9, 1964), a twelfth-round choice of the Rams in 1988 who currently scouts for the Los Angeles Rams; Casey (Dec. 2, 1965), and Jaime (Sept. 25, 1968).

What they say about BOBBY BEATHARD:

"(Beathard's arrival is) the most encouraging thing that has happened to this franchise since Lance Alworth hit town."
WAYNE LOCKWOOD, SAN DIEGO UNION

"He's got more energy than anyone in the business. I thought all along that San Diego was a sleeping giant anyway, but now with Bobby there, well, let's just say I'm glad we don't play the AFC West every year."
GEORGE YOUNG, N. Y. GIANTS GENERAL MANAGER

"He's totally unafraid of taking chances. The typical approach in the NFL is go slow, be conservative, be careful when you make trades. If your trades go bad, you look bad. Bobby couldn't care less. He goes full speed and never looks back."
DICK STEINBERG, N. Y. JETS GENERAL MANAGER

San Diego Chargers

BOBBY ROSS

Head Coach
5th NFL Season
1st Season with Chargers

On January 2, 1992, San Diego Chargers general manager Bobby Beathard announced the selection of former Georgia Tech head coach Bobby Ross to become the ninth head coach in team history.

"There are so many things that led us to Bobby Ross," said Beathard, whose last head-coaching hire — Joe Gibbs in Washington — has been to the playoffs seven of his 11 seasons. "You never hear anything bad (about Ross). You talk to players around the NFL who played for him and they loved playing for the guy. He's a tough, demanding coach, but at the same time, a fair guy. People seem to respond to his kind of coaching. He's very decisive. He knows what he wants. Bobby has a lot of qualities that I think we need. He's just been a winner wherever he's gone. He's gone into tough situations and turned them around. He's taken programs that were floundering and made them champions."

Ross has been coaching college or professional football for the past 27 years. He has been a college head coach 15 of the past 19 years, interrupted only by four seasons as an assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs (1978-81). Ross' overall 15-year record as a head coach at The Citadel, Maryland and Georgia Tech is 94-76-2.

Most recently, the 55-year-old Richmond, Virginia, native turned around the Georgia Tech program and carried it into the national spotlight. He inherited a down-trodden program which struggled through a 5-20 mark before Ross' teams won 18 of their next 20 games and a share of the national championship in 1990 with an 11-0-1 mark. It was the football program's first-ever national championship and conference title, and Ross was a consensus choice nationally for coach of the year. He culminated his career at Georgia Tech with a 31-26-1 record, including a 26-6-1 record over his final 33 games. He finished his five-year stint with an 8-5 record in 1991 and a big 18-17 come-from-behind victory over Stanford in the Aloha Bowl on Christmas Day.

In 1990, Ross directed Georgia Tech to the United Press International national championship as the nation's only unbeaten team at 11-0-1 following a convincing 45-21 win over Nebraska in the Florida Citrus Bowl. It was Tech's first appearance in a New Year's Day bowl game since 1966. Ross collected one of the biggest wins of his coaching career when Tech knocked off then-top-ranked Virginia, 41-38, in a nationally-televised thriller. The Yellow Jackets won their first Atlantic Coast Conference title in school history and their first national and conference championship of any kind since 1952. A consensus national Coach of the Year and the ACC Coach of the Year, Ross returned Tech to the glory days of Bobby Dodd as the number-one-ranked team by UPI, The Sporting News and Scripps Howard Publishing.

The success of 1990 was earmarked by the strong finish of the 1989 campaign. Tech won seven of its last eight games to post a 7-4 record — the Yellow Jackets' first winning season in four years — while decisively defeating a pair of bowl-bound teams in Clemson and Georgia. Georgia Tech dominated its foes down the stretch, outscoring the opposition, 123-55, in its last four games — all of them victories. The team finished the 1989 season ranked thirty-first nationally by The Sporting News and the program was tabbed one of the nation's top to watch for in the decade of the 1990s.

The turnaround in 1989 of Tech's football fortunes was really foreshadowed by Ross' 1988 squad that, despite a 3-8 record, ranked fifteenth nationally in total defense and seventh in pass defense. The 1988 squad lost six games by a total of 32 points.

His first team at Georgia Tech nearly broke the school's all-time season passing record with 2,284 yards, the most yards by air for a Rambling Wreck squad since 1968. His 1989 squad saw redshirt freshman quarterback Shawn Jones record the third-highest single-season mark for total yardage in Tech history (2,078) and, at the same time, senior running back Jerry Mays recorded the second-best single-season rushing total (1,349) in team history.

Ross coached five successful seasons at the University of Maryland (1982-86) where his Terrapin teams were known for their explosive offenses that resulted in the unprecedented success in College Park. During that time, his Maryland teams compiled a sparkling 39-19-1 mark (.672) against what annually was one of the toughest schedules in Division I football. He guided Maryland to three ACC titles and four postseason bowl games during his autumns in College Park. Ross left Maryland to become only the eighth full-time head football coach in Georgia Tech history.

Ross' football teams have exhibited balanced, yet exciting offense combined with hard-hitting defense. With an imaginative offense as its major characteristic, Ross' Maryland squads averaged 28.1 points per outing in his 59 games at the school. Maryland led the ACC in total offense in 1984 and '85, in passing offense in 1984 and '86 and in scoring offense in 1982, '84 and '85. His 1982 team averaged 32.1 points a game, the highest scoring team in the conference since 1972 and the third-highest scoring team in league history.

In his first season at College Park, Ross was named ACC Coach of the Year and District III Coach of the Year after the 1982 campaign that saw Maryland post an 8-4 record and earn a trip to the Aloha Bowl. That year he was also named National Coach of the Year by the Washington Touchdown Club.

His second Maryland squad in 1983 also recorded an 8-4 record and was chosen for the Florida Citrus Bowl. His 1984 squad posted a 9-3 mark, including a win over Tennessee in the Sun Bowl, and Ross' 1985 team also managed a 9-3 mark with a win over Syracuse in the Cherry Bowl.

The results of his successful program were electric in the Washington D.C. area, a region previously dominated by pro football interest. During his tenure, Maryland's attendance showed a marked increase, shattering all previous records. Maryland had a per-game increase of 8,225 fans in his first season, climbing over 20,000 per game to a school-record average of 51,546 in 1985.

Perhaps if there is any one game indicative of his all-out, never-say-die coaching style, it might be Maryland's thrilling, 42-40 win over nationally-ranked Miami in 1984. Making the greatest comeback in Division I history, Ross coached the Terps from a 31-0 halftime deficit to a last-second win over the Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl.

Ross' teams have played tough defense as well, leading the conference in scoring and rushing defense in 1982 and in total and rushing defense in 1985 while at Maryland. In 1988, Georgia Tech was the ACC's top team in pass defense and third in total defense.

Born Dec. 23, 1936, in Richmond, Virginia, Robert Joseph Ross was a three-sport letterman at Virginia Military Institute in football, basketball and baseball. He started at quarterback and defensive back for two seasons and served as captain of the team as a senior. Ross graduated from the Lexington, Virginia, school in 1959 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in English and History.

After a tour of duty in the U.S. Army as a First Lieutenant (1960-62) and four seasons of coaching on the prep level, he started his collegiate coaching at VMI in 1965. Ross then spent four seasons as an assistant at William and Mary (1967-70), one year at Rice (1971), and one year at Maryland (1972) before beginning his head coaching career at The Citadel in 1973.

Ross spent five seasons at The Citadel (1973-77) before leaving to become an assistant coach in the NFL under Marv Levy with the Kansas City Chiefs in 1978. He coached special teams and defense two seasons and offensive backs his final two seasons with the Chiefs. After four seasons (1978-81) with the Chiefs, Ross returned to the collegiate ranks as head coach at Maryland in 1982.

Ross' Maryland teams have produced such outstanding all-America talents as quarterbacks Boomer Esiason, Frank Reich and Stan Gelbaugh, tackle J.D. Maarleveld, guard Ron Solt, center Kevin Glover, linebacker Eric Wilson and safety Al Covington. He developed the school's two greatest all-time passers in Esiason and Gelbaugh, its all-time leading scorer in fullback Rick Badanjek, its all-time placekicking leader in Jess Atkinson and its all-time leading receiver in Greg Hill.

Standouts from Georgia Tech include safety Ken Swilling, linebacker Marco Coleman, running back Jerry Mays, quarterback Shawn Jones and Chargers tackle Darryl Jenkins.

Ross is known for sharing a uniquely personal relationship with his players. During practice he's involved in all facets of the game. He enjoys teaching and usually can be found in the huddle with his team.

"I always take the approach with my players that I want to treat them with the same respect that I would give to my (five) children," Ross said when he joined the Chargers. "I'm straight-forward. I think I'm a good communicator. I know how to look a person in the eye, eyeball-to-eyeball, and say what's on my mind. And I would expect the same from our players.

"I consider myself demanding of everyone," he continued, "starting with myself on down to the assistants and players. That doesn't mean I holler and scream and make players run extra laps. If discipline is detail and doing things right, then we're going to have a lot of that because that's what I believe in. If we don't do something right in practice, then we're going to repeat it. That doesn't mean we're going to have four-hour practices. Practice doesn't make perfect. Perfect practices make perfect."

Ross has produced a lot more than championship rings, bowl game trophies, all-America and NFL players. His emphasis on academic responsibility to his players is well documented. In 1988 alone, Maryland, whom he had just left, was honored by the College Football Association for a graduation rate of its football players that was one of the top ten in the nation. At the same time, Georgia Tech, whom he had just joined, received the same honor. Tech repeated among the CFA's top schools in graduation rates again in 1989-90.

Ross and his wife, Alice, have five children — sons Chris, Kevin and Robbie and daughters Mary and Teresa — and three grandchildren. Chris (Air Force Academy - '84), Mary (Maryland - '85), Teresa (Loyola of Baltimore - '87), and Kevin (Naval Academy - '88) are college graduates while Robbie is attending Georgia Tech. Bobby and Alice reside in the Scripps Ranch district of San Diego.

COACHING STAFF

BILL ARNSPARGER

Defensive Coordinator
21st NFL Season
1st Season with Chargers

Bill Arnsparger returned to the NFL coaching ranks Jan. 13, 1992, when head coach Bobby Ross named him the Chargers' defensive coordinator.

"Bill is one of the finest defensive minds in all of football," said Ross.

General Manager Bobby Beathard, who worked with Arnsparger and the Miami Dolphins as director of player personnel, said: "I think it's fantastic Bill has made the decision to come back into coaching. He's a heck of a coach. I think it's a real opportunity for the rest of the coaching staff just to be able to work with him."

Arnsparger, 65, brings 36 years of coaching experience to the Chargers, including 20 seasons in the National Football League. He began his NFL career in 1964 with the Baltimore Colts where he coached until 1970 when he joined Don Shula's staff in Miami. Arnsparger left the Dolphins in 1974 to become head coach of the New York Giants, a post he held until mid-way through the 1976 season when he rejoined Shula in Miami.

Arnsparger was the architect of the Dolphins' "No-Name Defense" in the early 1970s, and later developed the "Killer B's" defense in the early '80s. His defenses ranked either first or second in the NFL for fewest points allowed in nine of his 11 full seasons with Miami, including his final year with the Dolphins (1983) when they allowed an NFL-low 15.6-points a game. He has coached in five Super Bowls, including Super Bowl VIII in which he received a game ball after his defense allowed only 150 points in the 1973 season.

In 1984, Arnsparger left the NFL to become head coach at Louisiana State University where he guided the Tigers to one conference championship, two Sugar Bowl appearances and a Liberty Bowl berth in three years (1984-86).

He held the position as Director of Athletics at the University of Florida the past five years. Arnsparger's leadership at Florida placed a premium on academics as well as athletics. The 156 student-athletes at Florida who earned all-academic honors over the last three years is the best three-year total in school history. Florida's combined men's and women's program ranked among the ten most successful in the national in each of Arnsparger's first four years, according to USA Today. He left the University mid-way through his fifth year to join the Chargers' staff.

Arnsparger began his coaching career at his alma mater, Miami of Ohio, in 1950. He then served as an assistant at Ohio State (1951-53), Kentucky (1954-61) and Tulane (1961-63) before coming to the Colts in the NFL.

William Stephen Arnsparger was born Dec. 16, 1926, in Paris, Kentucky, and attended the University of Kentucky and, after a stint in the Marine Corps, transferred to Miami of Ohio where he obtained a degree in education and a Master's in school administration. Bill and his wife, Betty Jane (B.J.), have a son, David (Aug. 6, 1965), and a daughter, Mary Susan (Feb. 29, 1968). David currently serves as secondary coach at Alabama A&M. Bill and B.J. reside in the Rancho Bernardo area of San Diego.

He tutored four players who were NFL first-round draft choices — E.J. Junior (1981), Mike Pitts (1983), Cornelius Bennett (1987) and Derrick Thomas (1989). During Croom's tenure, Alabama led the Southeastern Conference in total defense two seasons, 1979-80. He began with the Crimson Tide as a graduate assistant coach in 1975-76.

As a 6-0, 235-pound center, Croom helped lead the Crimson Tide to three consecutive SEC Championships. A three-year letterman for Paul "Bear" Bryant, Croom was named Kodak All-America and first-team all-SEC as a senior in 1974. He also earned the Jacobs Award as the best down lineman in the conference. Alabama compiled a 32-4 record during Croom's three years as a starter and was named national champion in 1973 by UPI. He began his career at Alabama as a linebacker, then switched to tight end and tackle and finally to center.

He continued his playing career one season in the NFL when he signed as a free agent in 1975 with the New Orleans Saints.

Croom received a bachelor's degree in history with a minor in biology from Alabama in 1975. He earned his master's degree in educational administration two years later at Alabama.

He became head baseball coach in 1965 and assistant athletic director in 1966. He served as head football coach from 1972-76 and posted a 34-15 record. John is a guy you can win with in this League. I have all the confidence in the world in him."

"John's real graceful with his passes. He can throw long bombs 60 yards and they will fall right in your hands. If we get the right people around him, which I think we will, he's going to be great at this level."

GAME 8

Sunday, Oct. 20
Cleveland 30, at San Diego 24 (OT)

Both defenses dominated the first half as the teams went into the locker room tied at halftime, 3-3. But San Diego jumped out to a 17-3 lead in the third quarter on touchdown runs of 11 yards and two yards by Ronnie Harmon and Marion Butts, respectively. The Browns matched those scores with two of their own in a span of 2:26 to tied the score at 17-17. Steve Hendrickson scored his first NFL touchdown on a two-yard pass from John Friesz with 6:38 remaining. Once again Cleveland tied the game 2:29 later after marching 77 yards in eight plays. With 4:09 left in the fourth period, San Diego drove 49 yards to Cleveland's 31-yard line but a 48-yard field goal attempt on the final play in regulation sailed wide left. Neither team could score on their first possession in overtime, but on San Diego's fourth play of its second series, Browns' linebacker David Brandon intercepted a John Friesz pass on the Chargers' 30-yard line and raced down the sideline for the deciding score. San Diego outgained the Browns in total net yards, 437 yards to 364 yards. It was the most productive offensive day by the Chargers since the team chalked up 512 yards at Kansas City Oct. 19, 1986. For the second week in a row the offense exceeded 300 yards passing with 305 yards. It was the first time since Weeks 6-7, 1986, that the team had back-to-back 300-yard-passing games. Twenty-nine first downs is the most since the team gained 30 versus Kansas City Oct. 25, 1987. Friesz set career highs in attempts, completions and yards.

Miller Lite
NFL Player of the Year Award

There's the best. Then there's the rest.

To honor that distinction among NFL players, Miller Lite is sponsoring an extensive award program culminating in the naming of an annual NFL Player of the Year.

Every week of the NFL season, 28 players — one from each team — will be selected by press box media. A special media panel then will select a national Miller Lite NFL Player of the Week.

At the end of the regular season, six Miller Lite NFL Player of the Year candidates will be chosen from among each of the teams' winners. The national media panel will select the final winner — the best of the best.
